

Strategy

Diversified multi-asset strategy (stocks, bonds, cash, real estate, currencies and commodities) combining “top down” macro allocation and “bottom-up” risk management within a defined risk budget, as well as integrating Artificial Intelligence into stock selection since 2019.

Risk indicator

Capital is at risk. The positions may lead to capital losses.

Risk and return targets

The long-term objective is to beat inflation by 5% per annum over a market cycle with a volatility target below 8%. The maximum risk budget is 8% monthly modified value at risk (MVaR). The short-term objective is to target positive returns over rolling 12-month periods.

Monthly comment

The fund fell 1.7% in March.

The fund's net long position in equities was the primary detractor. Global equities fell 5% in March 2025 mainly due to Trump's tariffs (25% on imports from Mexico and Canada, and a hike on Chinese goods). This triggered fears of a trade war, recession, and stagflation. Tech stocks were hit especially hard, and investor confidence sank as recession risks jumped. We kept the equity allocation unchanged as we view Trump's tariffs as a strategy to create leverage to engineer better trade balances with a wide range of countries. This approach will create volatility, but we expect a roll back on many tariffs during April, following some concessions. Defense holdings, Dassault Aviation and Kongsberg Gruppen, benefit from structural tailwinds in the first part of March, driven by geopolitical tensions and rising global defense budgets - rather than cyclical growth. In healthcare and consumer staples, we remain invested in Eli Lilly, Roche and Danone. These names offer resilience. We maintain gold exposure through Franco-Nevada and Kinross.

We prefer TIPS over Treasuries. Real yields on 30-year TIPS are around 2%, providing a rare opportunity. If populist and protectionist policies persist, the primary risks are inflation and stagflation - not recession. Inflation breakevens remain subdued, but we believe they have room to move higher.

Tariffs also impact currency. The dollar dropped because the tariffs shook confidence in U.S. economic stability and future interest rate policy. Our base view is the US economy continues to grow in 2025, which will mean the Fed will not cut as much as the market expects.
